

The State Of Wisconsin's "No Call" list protects my rights to privacy. The federal government should not pass any legislation that would override the protections provided to Wisconsin residents. Our state law is what the people of Wisconsin have stated they want. Plain and simple, I do not want telemarketers to be able to call me... period. Our state law provides me with the protections I want as a consumer and the federal government should not take any action whatsoever that would weaken the consumer protections provided to me by our state law.
